WHEELING, APRIL 5, 1892.

Republican State Convention!

At a meeting of the State Central Committee, held at the city of Parkersburg, on February 23, 1892, it was ordered that a State Convention be held at the City of Martinsburg, on THURSDAY, the 5th day of May, 1892, to elect four (i) Dele-gates-at-Large and four (i) Alternates-at-Large to the Republican National Convention, to be held at the city of Minneapolis, Minnesota, on Tuesday, the 7th day of June, 1892, to nominate candidates to be supported for the offices of Tuesday, the 7th day of June, 1822, to nominate candidates to be supported for the offices of President and Vice-President of the United States; and also, in view of the change in the arrangement of the several Senatorial districts of this State, to elect members of the State Republican Central Committee, consisting of one person from each Senatorial district.

The Executive Committee of each county is requested to take early steps to secure each county representation in said State Couvention, as well as in the Congressional District Conventions to elect district delegates and alternates to said National Convention, and it is recommended that each county elect one delegate to said State Convention for each one hundred (100) votes or fraction thereof greater than fifty (50) cast therein for President Harrison in 1883. The co-operation is desired of all Republican voters and all other voters who favor the policy of Profection to American laborers, farmors and manufactures, the policy of Reciprocity, a sound currency, the cause of good government in the Nation, State and County, and who favor economy and reform in the State government of West Virginia and the several public institutions thereof.

Silver and the West Virginia Democracy. When our esteemed neighbor the Register urged the West Virginia Democrats in Congress to dodge the silver question it probably overlooked for the moment the silver resolution passed by the Democratic state convention at Graiton, August 13, 1890. The plank was inserted on the motion of Mr. Ira D. Post, who sprung the same kind of resolution on the convention which nominated Mr. Pendleton.

Resolved, That we favor the unlimited coinage of the silver dollar.

This was clear, explicit and covered the question. The resolution was adopted without dissent. Will the Register explain whether this resolution was adopted in good faith or whether it was part of a confidence game? It is to be supposed that the convention as a body acted in good faith.

If there was a mental reservation, who has been going about for these two years carrying the awful secret? These things are worth knowing, and the Democrats of West Virginia have a right to know them.

Moreover, if free siver coinage was right in 1890 what has happened to make it wrong in 1892? We have not noticed in the Register any able comments on the merits of the question, nor does anybody know where the Register stands on the silver issue. Its sole expression of opinion is, that West Virginia Democrats in Congress should dodge free silver. In fairness to the Register its dodging exhortation is once more reproduced: More reproduced:

We believe the West Virginia delegation will do their party a great service and themselves credit by voting to morrow to postpone the consideration of the bill at this time. Such a vote would not commit them for or against tree ceinage. It would simply put them on record of placing the question on the shelf for the present, and where it belongs until more vital rand important legislation is considered.

"Such a vote would not commit them."

"Such a vote would not commit them for or against free silver." The state convention, it will be seen, committed the whole party in West Virginia to free coinage. "It would simply put them on record of placing the question on the shelf for the present." If we understand the peculiar mean ing of this English, the course urged by the Register would put its party men in Congress on record "of placing" the silver question just where the Democratic state convention said it should not be placed.

straighten out these things if it can. This can hardly be done by more dodging. Exfoliate, and let it be known where you stand.

The Skirmish in Rhode Island.

Rhode Island is not a very large teapot, but there is something of a tempest raging there nevertheless. The fight is about as hot and heavy as a state of the size can accommodate.

The Democrats took it into their heads that Rhode Island was a promising field for a presidential skirmish, and they have made the most desperate campaign in the history of the state. Mr. Cleveland was brought in to help the party and incidentally to help knock the conceit out of Hill.

The Republicans have been enough frightened to go into the skirmish with all their might. Recent state elections showed the need of all the work they could get in. In 1889 the Democrats elected their governor by a plurality of 4,419; in 1890 by 1,560, in 1891 by 1,254. On the vote for President the Republicans of Rhode Island have an unbroken record of victory.

Iu 1888 Harrison carried the state by 4,438 in a total vote of 40,766, polling 53.86 per cent of all the votes cast. To morrow the contest will end at the polls, and the probability is that the Republicans will carry the state.

Ensy to Decide.

There are some very plausible things in free trade theory. If the world were new to it all and it were all new to the world, it might be difficult to disprove some of the captivating assumptions.

But the world has lived and learned. Each country has its own experience. The experience of our own is an open book. He that does not run hopelessly with the free trade machine may read. It is a story of hope and disappointment as it is a chapter of protection or free trade.

This country has never listened to the wooing of the free trader without disaster, never turned a willing ear to protection without realizing its expecta-

The citizen who places the welfare of his country above all things else may, if he will, discard all theories of the tariff question, free trade and protectionist, and seek his way by the guide of the written record. It points to prosperity by the strait and narrow way of protection.

Anybody who knows enough to eat when he is hungry should be able to decide for himself whether his country should continue in well-doing or repeat its old-time blunders.

"Pig Iron" Kelley.

A New York newspaper says that Judge Kelley, "Old Pig Iron" left a "considerable fortune." Our impression is that this is a mistake. Judge Kelley was seriously embarrassed a few years before his death. He got his affairs in better shape by selling some real estate and paying off some incumbrances on what he had left, but we think he was very far from having a "considerable fortune."

He was not a money-maker. Not long before his death he told the writer that he had enough to live on comfortably, and he remarked that if he had devoted his life to the practice of his profession instead of giving his years to the defense of American industries, he could have seen the end approach with more comforting assurance that his family would be provided for.

Thirty Cents Difference.

"Free Silver" asks the Intelligencer to tell him the difference between the "paper-promise-to-pay" dollar and a Bland silver dollar.

At the present price of silver the difference is a little more than thirty cents. A silver dollar is not a promise to pay a hundred cents or anything It goes for what trade is to take it for.

The check or promissory note of a person considered "good" goes for a hundred cents on the dollar because the expectation is that it will be paid at

The silver dollar coined without limit will be accepted at its commercial value, no more. The difference is not hard to understand.

The Reason Why.

"The tariff is a tax."—Register.
Five-inch taper saw files sell in Wheeling at 65 to 68 cent a dozen.
The tariff on five-inch taper saw files is 75 cents a dozen. The tariff of live-inch taper saw files is 75 cents a dozen.

Will the Register explain who pays the tax in this case?—Intelligencer.

This pertinent question, going to the marrow of the free trade assumption, has not been answered. It cannot be answered.

Every nation on earth would like the United States to adopt free trade, a policy discredited by every nation except Great Britain. There is never a foreign lobby in Washington urging Congress to pass a protective tariff.

Mr. CAMpen did more than any other man to make Mr. Faulkner senator. Somehow Mr. Faulkner does not seem to be doing much to make Mr. Camden senator. Is there to be no reciprocity?

Voting for free silver were 137 Democrats and eleven Republicans, a close enough drawing of party lines to mark the respective attitude of each party on this important question.

THE opposition to Senator Quay's reelection will have to stir itself. The senator is gathering them in.

June has dropped in to say "howdy" to April.

> STATE POLITICS. Mr. Campbell for Governor.

Philippi Republican. The Republican rejoices that the state is full of good Republicans who would fill the gubernatorial chair with honor to the state and credit to themselves. It recognizes the merit of Mr. Elkins, It recognizes the merit of Mr. Elkins, the genus of Mr. Atkinson, and the conspicuous ability of Mr. Maxwell, but notwithstanding all the good things that can be said in their favor, we are fully convinced that the state has within its limits a Republican in all respects better qualified than any of these for this high honor. We are proud of the fact that he is a West Virginian, and such he has been from his birth.

and such he has been from his birth, and her very existence to-day is due as much to his effort and work as to that much to his effort and work as to that of all the other persons above mentioned put together. There is no braver, branier, manlier, nobler man in West Virginia than A. W. Campbell, and we for him for governor first, last and all the time.

All Should Have It.

One newspaper doesn't often get such a drubbing as the Intelligences lately gave the Register. The Intelligences is doing more valuable service for Republican principles than ever before. Mr. Hart evidently understands the questions on which the coming campaign is to be fought, and if the Democrats don't feel the effect of itssledge-hammer blows "before the war closes" we will miss our guess. It a editorials shound with great guess. Its editorials abound with great common sense, and are written in a style that anybody can understand. It ought to be in the hands of all the voters in the state, and Republicans will make a mistake if they do not use it very largely this year.

But the Register, "the State Organ," Advised Them to Dodge.

St. Mary's Oracle (Dem.). The West Virginia congressmen are right in voting for free silver. It is simply disgraceful to dodge a vote on a bill which the people want and which they have sent their representatives to Washington to pass. Mr. Capehart is not one of the dodging kind, and he will find, when he comes before his records. find, when he comes before his people again, that they appreciate a man who has the nerve to vote as they want him to, without regard to consequences.
Mr. Wilson is the only member from this state who voted to postpone the consideration of the bill, and he will vote for the bill when it comes to pass

Preston County and Elliott, Clarksburg Telegram.

It seems strange that grand old Pres ton, the banner Republican county of the state has never had a representative on the Republican state ticket. This fact alone is sufficient to justify her claims at the coming convention. But when she hurls at us such a candidate as Edward S. Elliott for attorney general, what can we say? The idea seems to have swept the state like a cyclone, and the cry is now Preston county and Elliott. From present indications he will be nominated without consolidations. opposition.

Where Does It Stand? Keyser Echo.

Everybody knows that a majority of the Democratic party is in favor of free coinage of silver. Nobody knows, un-less it be the Register itself, on which less t be the Register Reen, on which side of the question it is to be counted, but it is plain that the Register and others of its kind are not willing to show the cloven foot at present. We show the cloven foot at present. We hope the committee on rules will defeat the hypocritical schemes of those who desire delay and bring the matter to a crisis. We want to see the members of Congress put themselves on record record.
